An Act for the Abolishing the House of Peers.

[19 March, 1648/9.]

House of Lords useless and dangerous to be continued, wholly abolished.

The Commons of England assembled in Parliament, finding by too long experience, that the House of Lords is useless and dangerous to the People of England to be continued, have thought fit to Ordain and Enact, and be it Ordained and Enacted by this present Parliament, and by the Authority of the same, That from henceforth the House of Lords in Parliament, shall be and is hereby wholly abolished and taken away; And that the Lords shall not from henceforth meet or sit in the said House called The Lords House, or in any other House or Place whatsoever, as a House of Lords; nor shall Sit, Vote, Advise, Adjudge, or Determine of any matter or thing whatsoever, as a House of Lords in Parliament: Nevertheless it is hereby Declared, That neither such Lords as have demeaned themselves with Honor, Courage and Fidelity to the Commonwealth, nor their Posterities who shall continue so, shall be excluded from the Publique Councils of the Nation, but shall be admitted thereunto, and have their Free Vote in Parliament, if they shall be thereunto elected, as other persons of Interest elected and qualified thereunto, ought to have.

Some qualified Lords to have free Vote in Parliament, if elected;

And be it further Ordained and Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That no Peer of this Land, not being Elected, Qualified, and sitting in Parliament as aforesaid, shall claim, have or make use of any priviledge of Parliament, either in relation to his Person, Quality or Estate, Any Law, Usage or Custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

Otherwise to have no Priviledge.

An Act For Raising Ninety thousand pounds per Mensem, For the Maintenance of the Forces raised by Authority of Parliament, for the Service of England and Ireland, For Six Moneths, from the 25th of March, 1649 to the 29th of September, 1649.

[7 April 1649.]

The Commons of England assembled in Parliament, having about the months of January and February, One thousand six hundred forty seven, taken an effectual course to reduce their Forces to the numbers of the Establishment then made, and for the disbanding of Supernumerary Forces; And having provided for the pay and maintenance of those that were so established, by an Assessment of Threescore thousand pounds per mensem; whereby not only Free-quarter was wholly taken off, but also the Soldiery were reduced to an orderly way of maintaining themselves with their pay, without taking ought from any man, but what they bought and paid for, at such rates as they could agree with the people, and were Billetted, for the most part, in Market-Towns, and at Inns, Alehouses, and Victualling-houses therein, until by Insurrections begun, through the instigation of Malignants in some countries, and by refusal or non-payment of the said Assessments in other parts, that good order was interrupted, and unavoidably broken off: And having seen by that experience (as well as by their own reason) the great ease and freedom from former Oppressions which the people enjoyed through that course, until the said interruption thereof: Now whereas upon occasion of the said Insurrections in some parts, with the Revolts in others, and of the great Invasion from Scotland the last Summer; for the suppressing and resisting thereof, very many new Forces were necessarily raised in several countreys, and the Regiments of the established Army and Garisons were necessarily increased, much above the numbers of the said Establishment; By which means the aforesaid assessment of Threescore thousand pounds per mensem hath proved to fall far short of paying the Forces thus encreased, so as many of them have been forced in want of pay, for many moneths past, to go upon Free-quarter again; and yet for want of moneys, whereby to give them any reasonable satisfaction for their last years extraordinary Service, all other the receipts of publique Moneys being, through former improvident and evil managing of the Publique Treasury, so clogged with vast anticipations charged upon them, the said Forces (although some of them might now be spared) cannot for [the] present be disbanded or reduced, until by some extraordinary means, Moneys can be raised for some reasonable satisfaction in order thereunto: And considering what encouragement and advantage to new disturbances, was taken by Malignants and Enemies last Spring, upon the Parliaments reducing of their Forces to so small a number, and what occasion and opportunity to the raising and fomenting of those disturbances, did then happen by the sudden disbanding of so many Supernumerary Forces together (though intended for the speedier easing of the People) and for as much as the extraordinary Manning of the new Garisons of Berwick and Carlisle, and other Places in the North, to prevent the like invasion from the Malignants in Scotland, and of divers other new Garisons in England and Wales, by the last years experience, found necessary to be secured (for preventing the like Insurrections of Malignants and disaffected persons within this Nation) do require the present upholding of a greater strength therein, for some further time, then by the said former establishment was intended and provided; For which purpose it is found necessary, That out of the forces now in being, there be four thousand foot added to the number of the last establishment for England: And whereas also by the defection of some of the Scottish forces in Ireland, and evil carriage of others of them, and partly by Inchequins Revolt, and by his late Conjunction with Ormond, and other Irish Rebels, and by means of the Peace made by Ormond with the Rebels, on the late Kings behalf, the said adverse forces in Ireland, are grown so strong and united, and our forces and Garisons there so weakned, as that it doth require both the continuing of a greater strength at home for the safety of the Commonwealth, against any attempts from thence, or from elsewhere; and also the sending over of greater supplies thither, both of Forces, Money and Provisions then ever heretofore: The said Commons assembled in Parliament, taking the premises into their serious consideration, do finde it necessary, that there be some present, sufficient and certain provision of Moneys beyond the ordinary proportion, whereby the Forces already in Ireland may be relieved and supplied, and such as are further necessary to be sent over thither (which they have resolved to be Four thousand Horse and Dragoons, and Eight thousand Foot, out of the Forces now in being here) may be provided for, transported and maintained, and whereby the Forces and Garisons yet requisite to be kept up in England and Wales may be maintained, and the rest of the Forces now in being that might be spared (until with reasonable satisfaction, and without such danger of disturbances as last year, they can be disbanded) may also be put into a way of present pay, so as all Free-quarter may be immediately taken off, the necessary charge of all which is found will amount unto One hundred twenty thousand pounds per mensem, or upwards. Now although the said sum of One hundred twenty thousand pounds per mensem, be necessary to be some way provided for the uses aforesaid; yet considering the great burthens, pressures and damages which the people have so long sustained, and the impoverishing of many parts thereby, the said Commons are not willing to lay so great a charge by way of Assessment upon the people: But whereas there hath hitherto been leavied that way threescore thousand pounds per mensem for the Forces in England; and twenty thousand pounds per mensem for the Forces in Ireland, they finde it necessary that there be an addition of ten thousand pounds per mensem, so as to make up the Assessments for both the said Forces in England and Ireland, Ninety thousand pounds per mensem for the said six moneths: And although they are not insensible, that the way of assessing and levying the same (for want of an equal pound Rate upon land and goods) in many counties hath been hitherto very unequal; and they are therefore resolved speedily to apply themselves to the settling of more equal Rates and Rules for the said Assessments; yet considering that the present altering of the present way of assessing or levying the same for the first three moneths, would unavoidably retard the raising and bringing in of the moneys, so as it would not be had within the time requisite for expediting of the said service of Ireland, and payment of the Forces in England, so as to take away or keep off Free-quarter; they finde it most requisite, that for the said first three moneths, the money be levied according to the same way and rules as in the late Assessments hitherto have been held in the several counties respectively: Be it therefore Enacted, and it is Enacted and Ordained by this present Parliament, and by authority thereof, that towards the said monethly charge of One hundred twenty thousand pounds per mensem for the said Forces and services both in England and Ireland, the said sum of Ninety thousand pounds per mensem for the first three moneths next ensuing, from the Five and twentieth day of March, One thousand six hundred forty nine, until the Four and twentieth day of June next ensuing, shall be taxed, collected, levied and paid in the several counties and places hereafter named respectively, by the several sums, and according to the several rates and proportions, and in the maner and form hereafter expressed; viz.

An Act Prescribing certain Times to Delinquents For perfecting their Compositions Effectually, under several penalties.

[9 April 1649.]

Whereas by Ordinance of Parliament of the sixth of February, 1646, it is Ordained, That the Commissioners for compounding with Delinquents, have power to suspend the sequestration of the Estates of such Delinquents as shall compound with them, the Delinquents having paid the moyety of the Fines compounded for, and given Security to the said Commissioners for the remainder thereof, according to the proportion to be set by both Houses of Parliament: Provided, That every such person so compounding, do within six Weeks pay the remainder of his said Fine, and sue forth his Pardon under the Great-Seal, after his Composition shall be allowed by both Houses of Parliament, otherwise the suspension to be void: Yet many whose Compositions have been set, and allowed by both Houses of Parliament, have not paid in the second moyety of their said Compositions, according as by the said Ordinance is appointed; by reason whereof, the Commonwealth hath been disappointed of those moneys which were intended from the said Treasury for the publique service; to supply which, the Treasurers at Goldsmiths-Hall have been necessitated to take up at Interest great sums of money upon the credit of the said Compositions, for which the said Treasury stands ingaged: The Commons assembled in Parliament being very sensible, how much the said Compounders have abused the said Act of Grace, Do therefore Enact and Declare, That this Clause onely in the said proviso of the said Ordinance (viz. That every such person so compounding, do pay in the remainder of his said Fine within Six weeks after the Compositions shall be allowed by both Houses of Parliament) shall be, and is hereby Repealed and made void. And to the end that a present supply of Moneys may be brought in to the said Treasury, It is Enacted and Ordained by the Commons assembled in Parliament, That all such persons, whose Compositions have been set or allowed by both Houses of Parliament, shall pay or cause to be paid in to the said Treasury before the Sixth day of May, in the year of our Lord God, 1649, the full sum or sums remaining due upon their said Compositions respectively; and in default thereof, shall pay Interest for the same, after the Rate of Eight pounds per cent. from the time or times at which the same became due and payable respectively, together with one fourth part more of the whole sum of their respective Compositions, as an additional Fine. And it is further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That all such persons, whose Fines or Compositions have been set by the said Commissioners, and allowed of by the House of Commons onely, shall pay or cause to be paid in to the said Treasury, before the twentieth day of May, 1649, the full sum of their said Fines, or so much thereof as remains due upon their said Compositions respectively; and in default thereof, to pay Interest for the same, after the rate of Eight pounds per centum, from and after the said twentieth day of May, 1649, together with one fourth part more of the whole sum of their respective Compositions, as an additional fine: And that all such persons whose fines for Compositions have been set by the said Commissioners, before the seventh day of April, 1649, but before the same day have not been reported unto, or allowed by the Commons assembled in Parliament, shall pay, or cause to be paid in to the said Treasury, the one Moyety of their respective fines, before the sixth day of May, 1649, (if such Moyety be not already paid) and the other Moyety thereof, within six weeks after their said fines respectively shall be allowed by the said Commons, or by such as by their authority shall be authorized and appointed thereunto; or otherwise, in default of such payment of the said several Moyeties, or either of them, shall pay Interest for the same at the rate aforesaid, from the time or times at which the same shall be become payable, by vertue of this Act, together with the like penalty, as aforesaid, of one fourth part more of the whole sum of their respective Compositions, as an additional fine: And that all such persons, whose fines for Compositions, shall after the said seventh day of April, 1649, be set by the said Commissioners, or by such others as shall be by the Commons in Parliament assembled authorized thereunto, shall pay or cause to be paid in to the said Treasury, the one Moyety of such their respective fines, within fourteen days after the setting thereof, and the other Moyety within six weeks after such their several fines shall be allowed of by the Commons in Parliament assembled as aforesaid, or by such as by their Authority shall be authorized and appointed thereunto; or otherwise, in default of such payment of the said several Moyeties, or either of them, shall pay Interest for the same at the Rate aforesaid, from the time or times at which the same shall become due and payable by vertue of this Act; together with the like penalty as aforesaid, of one fourth part more of the whole sum of their respective Compositions, as an additional fine. And it is further Enacted and Ordained, That in case any of the persons abovementioned, that make default in paying in his or their full Compositions, within such time and times as are above limited, that then the Real and Personal Estates of such Defaulters shall be forthwith Sequestred, until they respectively conform thereunto: And the said Commissioners at Goldsmiths Hall, or any five or more of them, are hereby authorized and enabled to Sequester, or to take order for the Sequestring of the Real and Personal Estates of such Delinquents and defaulters; and to direct te the respective Committees for Sequestrations in the several counties, or such other Committees for Sequestrations as shall be appointed by Parliament, a Warrant for the purposes aforesaid, and for the removing of every such person and persons out of the possession of his or their house or houses, who are hereby required to obey and perform the same; And all Governors of Garisons, and other Officers and Soldiers in the service of Parliament, are hereby required to be ayding and assisting unto them in the execution thereof for the purposes aforesaid. And for the more effectual prosecuting of the said Sequestrations, It is further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the said Commissioners, or any five or more of them, shall and may nominate, and appoint, and authorize, by Warrant under their Hands, a Solicitor or Solicitors for Sequestrations in the several counties of England and Wales, to prosecute the seizing, sequestring and securing the Real and Personal Estates of such Defaulters as aforesaid, and every of them; and shall and may appoint a Collector or Collecters for the gathering and receiving of the Rents, Issues and Profits of the Lands, Tenements and Hereditaments of the said persons so making default as abovesaid; Which said Solicitors and Collectors shall from time to time observe such Orders and Directions as they shall receive from the said Commissioners, or the said Committees for the said respective counties, in such case where the said Commissioners shall not have given former Directions. And it is further Enacted and Ordained, That the said Solicitors for Sequestrations respectively, shall return unto the said Commissioners, according to his or their best knowledge, Duplicates to the Rent-Rolls of the Lands, Tenements and Hereditaments appointed to be sequestred as aforesaid, within six weeks after the Sequestration thereof, and shall take and return Inventories of the Personal Estate of such as shall be sequestred as aforesaid, within six weeks after the Sequestration thereof (and in default thereof, such Solicitor shall lose the benefit of his Salary by this Act to him appointed) and after such return made, shall and may, with the advice, approbation and direction, of the respective Committees of the county, or any three of them sell the Goods of such person and persons at the best rate or value he or they can get for the same. And to the end that the Commonwealth may receive the benefit of the Sequestrations, It is Enacted and Ordained, That the said Commissioners, or the said Committees for the said counties respectively, or any three of them, shall and may, and are hereby authorized and enabled to make a Lease or Leases by Deed Indented, of any the Manors, Lands, Tenements or Hereditaments of such person and persons (as shall make default as aforesaid) or any part thereof, for such number of years as they shall conceive most advantagious to the Commonwealth, reserving the best Rent they can get for the same. Provided always, the Lease or Leases so to be made, do not exceed the term of three years, nor be made to the Delinquent, or to any to his use and benefit: And in case any such Lease shall be made unto or to the use of such Delinquent or Delinquents, then such Lease to be meerly void; and upon information and proof thereof made to the said Commissioners, the said Commissioners or any three of them, shall have power to make a Lease thereof at the same Rent, for the like number of years, to him or them that shall make such information, being of ability to pay the Rent reserved. And it is further Enacted, That all such Rents, Issues and Profits as shall be received by reason of the Sequestrations of such Defaulters, shall be paid to the said Treasurers at Goldsmiths-Hall, to be disposed of to such uses as the Parliament shall hereafter appoint: And whereas divers Delinquents have submitted to a Composition, and brought in their particulars, but have neglected to prosecute the same, It is therefore Enacted and Ordained, That all such Delinquents shall within twenty eight days after the seventh of April, 1649, effectually prosecute their said Compositions, and in default thereof, shall lose the benefit of Composition, and their Estates to be finally confiscate, and to be disposed of to the use of the Commonwealth. Provided always, That this Act, nor any thing therein contained, shall extend to take away the benefit of any Articles not forfeited, nor to restore the benefit of any Articles forfeited: And because divers of those who are intrusted in the execution of the Ordinances relating to Sequestrations, do suffer divers Delinquents to dwell in their houses, and themselves, or some to their uses, do Rent of the Sequestrators their Lands and Tenements at low and easie rates, by reason whereof, and because such Delinquents are allowed the fifth part for their wives and children, and are thereby encouraged to forbear and delay their Compositions, It is therefore Enacted, That the said Commissioners, or the said Committees for the respective counties, or any three or more of them, shall remove out of the possession of their Houses and Lands such Delinquents, or any others intrusted for them, unless they and every of them shall come in and compound at or within the days above limited; for the effecting whereof, all Governors of Garisons and Soldiers, in the service of Parliament, are required to be aiding and assisting to the said Commissioners and Committees respectively. And it is further Enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the several and respective Solicitors for Sequestrations imployed by the said Commissioners, shall take the same Oath that Solicitors for Sequestrations are by a former Ordinance appointed to take: Which said Oath the said Commissioners or any three of them are hereby authorized to administer: And that the said Committees for Sequestrations of the respective counties, for the Leasing out of Delinquents Estates, and the said Solicitors and Receivers may have encouragement effectually to prosecute the said service, It is hereby Enacted, That the said respective Committees shall have for every twenty shillings Rent reserved upon every Lease Sealed and Delivered by the said Committees as aforesaid, six pence in the pound; and every respective Solicitor shall be paid for his or their Salary, for every twenty shillings that shall be paid in to the said Treasurers by reason of the said Sequestration, the sum of three pence in the pound; and the respective Collectors shall have and receive for his and their Salaries, the sum of two pence in the pound for every twenty shillings paid in to the said Treasurers: Which said several sums the said Treasurers are to allow, and make payment of accordingly. And it is further Enacted, That the said Treasurers shall have, take and receive out of all such Moneys as shall be paid in to them by vertue of this Act, the like Salary as they have for other Compositions Moneys paid in to them. And whereas the Parliament, out of their desire to establish Maintenance for a Preaching Ministery, have given way, That the said Commissioners should buy in Impropriations and Tythes of Delinquents that should compound with them, at such rates as they should contract for the same; In pursuance whereof the said Commissioners have contracted with several persons for Tythes and Impropriations of the value of Ten thousand pounds per annum, or thereabouts, for which the said Commissioners have abated in the whole out of the several Compositions, the sum of One hundred thousand pounds; the greatest part of which Impropriations and Tythes are not as yet settled, according to order in that behalf made, It is therefore hereby Enacted and Declared, That all such persons as have been ordered by the said Commissioners, or any Committees there for that purpose authorized, to setle any Rectory, or Maintenance out of any Rectory, Parsonage or Tythes, for which they have had allowance and abatement in their said fines, shall within eight weeks after the seventh day of April, 1649, setle the same upon such Trustees as the said Commissioners shall appoint, for such uses as the Parliament shall hereafter direct: And in default thereof, such of the said Delinquents as have paid any part of their fines, and have thereupon obtained Letters to suspend their Sequestrations, shall be forthwith resequestred, until they respectively shall setle the said Rectories or Maintenance respectively as aforesaid, and pay such Arrerages as have grown due since the time the same were ordered to be setled by the said Commissioners: And that all such persons as shall from henceforth be Ordered to setle any Rectory, Parsonage or Tythes, or any Allowance out of them to the use aforesaid, shall within eight weeks after the date of the said Order, setle the same under the same penalties as is last aforesaid. And forasmuch as the great businesses of the Commonwealth do as yet hinder the making of Reports from Goldsmiths-Hall, It is therefore Enacted, That the said Commissioners for Compositions, or any five or more of them, upon the Compounders paying in of the Moyety of his fine, or satisfying the same by settlement of any Rectories or Tythes, or any allowance out of them, and not otherwise, shall or may grant to such Compounder, an Order to suspend the Sequestration of his Estate: And upon his paying in, or like satisfying as aforesaid the whole fine, to discharge the Estate from Sequestration: Which said Orders respectively shall be effectual to suspend or discharge from Sequestration so much as he hath compounded for. And whereas divers persons being sequestred, or questioned for Delinquency, have made their Appeals unto the late Committee of Lords and Commons for Sequestrations, and have procured a suspension of their Sequestrations, and thereby enjoyed the benefit of their Estates, and by reason thereof do not effectually prosecute their said Appeals, It is therefore Enacted and Declared, That the Barons of the Court of Exchequer shall, and are hereby constituted and appointed Commissioners for Appeals in case of Sequestrations, before whom such persons as aforesaid may prosecute their Appeals: And the said Commissioners for Appeals, or any two or more of them, shall have the same power and authority to all intents and purposes, to take cognizance of such Appeals already made, and to receive any new Appeals of like kinde, and to examine, hear and determine the same, and to proceed in all things in relation thereto, as the late Committee of Lords and Commons for Sequestrations lawfully had, or might have exercised for that purpose by vertue of any Ordinance of Parliament in that behalf made: And that all such persons that have already made such Appeals as aforesaid, and yet have not effectually prosecuted the same, they and every of them are hereby required effectually to prosecute such their respective Appeals before the said Commissioners for Appeals hereby constituted, within two moneths next after the seventh day of April, 1649; or otherwise, in case of failer thereof through wilful default or neglect of such person appealing, then every such suspension of his or their Sequestration, procured as aforesaid respectively, shall from thenceforth be taken off, be Null and void. And the Committees for Sequestrations in the respective counties of England and Wales, are hereby enjoyned thereupon to resequester the Estate of every such Delinquent; which if they shall neglect to do, or take effectual order for, then the said Commissioners for Compositions, or any five or more them, are hereby authorized to do, or to take order for the same. And that this work may the more certainly and speedily be done, the said Commissioners for appeals are enjoyned from time to time to certifie, or cause their Clerk to certifie to the several Committees for the respective counties the Names of such Delinquentss, and every of them, making such default or neglect as aforesaid. And it is further Enacted, That this present Act be forthwith printed and published; and that the Commissioners aforesaid do forthwith send the same to the respective Sheriffs of the several counties of England and Wales, who are hereby required to publish the same in the chief Market Towns of the said counties, on the next Market day after the receipt hereof; and, the day of Publication hereof, to certifie to said Commissioners at Goldsmiths-Hall.

An Act For setting apart A Day of Solemn Fasting and Humilation, And Repealing the former Monethly Fast.

[23 April, 1649]

Whereas by a Proclamation the Eighth of January, in the Seventeenth year of the Reign of the late King, a general Publique and Solemn Fast was appointed to be kept and holden, as well by abstinence from Food, as by publique Prayers, hearing of the Word of God, and other sacred duties in England and Wales, on the last Wednesday of the Moneth of February then next following, and from thenceforth to continue during the Troubles in the Kingdom of Ireland; which was strictly commanded to be observed, upon pain of punishments to be inflicted upon all such as should contemn or neglect so religious a work: And whereas several Ordinances or Orders of Parliament have since been made, for the holding and observing of the said Fast on the same day;

The Parliament of England finding by sad experience, how much the observation of the said Monethly Fast hath been for divers years last past, in most places of this Commonwealth wholly neglected, and in other places where the same hath been retained, it hath declined by degrees from that Solemnity and due Reverence wherewith the same was at the first Institution thereof entertained, and as is suitable to such an Ordinance of Christ, wherewith the same hath been much prophaned, the Spirits of those that truly fear God, and desire to Worship him in sincerity and truth, been grieved, the Lord highly dishonoured and provoked, and much guilt contracted, by the taking of Gods Name in vain: And seriously considering how apt such set times for extraordinary duties of Worship are to degenerate into meer Formality and Customary observances; and that it is more agreeable to the nature of such extraordinary Worship, and to the approved and successful Examples of the people of God in Scripture, to set apart special times for such Solemn Duties, according to the particular occasions, to the end the same might be observed with greater care and intention: For the better reforming of which abuses, and prevention thereof for the future, Be it Enacted and Ordained, and it is Enacted and Ordained by this present Parliament, and by authority thereof, That the said Proclamation be declared Null and void; and that all Orders and Ordinances of Parliament, touching the observation of the said Fast on the day or days afore mentioned, be and are hereby Repealed and made void: And that it shall and may be lawful for all and every the Courts of Westminster, and all other Courts to sit; and all other person and persons whatsoever, to follow the works of his or their lawful Calling upon those days, without incurring any penalty thereby.

And forasmuch as the multiplyed sins of this Nation, the contempt of God and his Ordinances, that general prophaneness, opposition to Reformation, murmuring at the various and gracious Providences of God and the general unthankfulness for the mercies and preservations this Nation hath received, together with a proneness and endeavor to relapse into that former condition of Tyranny and Superstition, out of which God hath in much Mercy lately brought us, do minister just cause of Humiliation; together with the present miseries and straights of our poor Brethren in Ireland, through the Apostacy and Perfidiousness of some, and the united Malice and Power of others; and the Parliament being resolved, by Gods assistance, to send some Forces for the speedy Relief of the Parliament Forces there, and the reduction of the Enemy unto the Obedience of the Parliament and Commonwealth of England; Be it therefore further Enacted and Ordained by this present Parliament, and the authority of the same, That Thursday the third day of May, Anno Dom. 1649 be set apart and appointed for a publique and solemn day of Fasting and Humiliation, to be observed in all Churches and Chappels within the cities of London and Westminster, and all places within the late Lines of Communication, and Bills of Mortality, earnestly to seek unto Almighty God, through our Lord Jesus Christ, that he will be graciously pleased to pardon the Sins of this Nation, and in a special maner the Sins beforementioned, and the Iniquities of the former Monethly Fast-days; and that he will be pleased to heal the Divisions and Breaches of this Land, and give a blessing and success to the Forces of the Parliament now in Ireland, and such as are shortly to be sent thither, and at the last to establish his pure Worship, and Righteousness and Peace in the Nation. And be it further Enacted and Ordained by the authority aforesaid, That Thursday the Seventeenth day of the same Moneth of May, 1649, be set apart and appointed for the like publique and solemn day of Fasting and Humiliation, upon the grounds and to the ends aforesaid, to be observed and kept in all other Churches and Chappels, in all other Cities, Boroughs, Towns, Parishes and places within England and Wales, and the Town of Berwick: And all Pastors and Ministers, of and in all and every the Cities, Boroughs, Towns and places aforesaid, be enjoyned and required to publish this present Act, in the several Churches and Chappels in and under their several and respective charges, on the Lords-day next before the day by this present Act appointed for the observation of the said Fast, and to take care that the same be Solemnly and Religiously observed: And that all Majors, Justices of the Peace, Bayliffs, Constables, and all other Officers within their several and respective Liberties and Precincts, be hereby authorized and required to restrain all persons from the publique doing of any work, or using any exercise of a wordly nature, either contemptuously or unnecessarily, to the prophaning or neglect of the said Fast on the days aforesaid respectively by such penalties, or as were heretofore by any Ordinance of Parliament to be inflicted for prophaning the said Monethly Fast.

And be it further Enacted and Ordained by the authority aforesaid, That this present Act be forthwith printed and published; and that the Sheriffs of the several Counties and Cities in England and Wales, do cause the same to be proclaimed and set up in the usual and publique places within the said several Counties. And all the people of this Nation are hereby required and enjoyned, with all due Reverence and Devotion to observe the said Fast at the days aforesaid respectively, as they tender the glory of God, and the good and peace of this Commonwealth.

An Act for the more certain and constant Supply of the Soldiery with Pay, and the preventing of any further Oppression or Damage to the People by Free-quarter or Billet.

[12 May, 1649.]

The Commons assembled in Parliament, for the taking off and future avoiding of all Free-quarter, (which the last Summers War, and great increase of Forces thereby occasioned, had necessarily brought again upon the people) having resolved again to disband all such Forces as may be spared; and having provided that the rest (which are yet necessary to be continued) shall have constant pay assigned to them out of the assessments of the several Counties by the Committee for the Army; as also an allowance in Money, in lieu of Billet, so as duly receiving the same, they may therewith provide and finde themselves both for Quarter, Billet and other Necessaries, without further charge or trouble to the people where they lie; And finding that without a present advance of Money upon the said assessments, the Forces cannot be reduced to that proportion which the growing Assessment will suffice to pay, and that unless the continuing Forces be timely supplied with their pay beforehand, they cannot be enabled or reasonably required to hold that good order, of maintaining and providing for themselves (as is intended and Resolved) without Quarter or Billetting upon the People; Do therefore Enact and Ordain, and be it Enacted and Ordained by this present Parliament, and by authority of the same, That the first Three Moneths Assessment of the said six moneths, shall be taxed, levied, and paid in the several Counties, to the respective Treasurers or chief Receivers, before the ninth day of June, 1649. and that the first moneths assessment of the latter three moneths, shall in like manner be taxed, levied and paid in before the first of July next following; and the second moneths Assessment of the said last three moneths, before the first day of August next ensuing; and the last moneth thereof, before the first day of September next coming; so as the assignments of pay from the said Committee to the several Dates for paying in assessments for soldiers' pay.

Forces, out of the assessments of the respective Counties, may be supplyed readily and beforehand, to enable the Soldiery to maintain themselves, without Free-quarter, Free Billet, or other trouble or charge to the countrey: And the several Commissioners for Assessments, Assessors, and Collectors in the respective Counties and places within this Commonwealth, are enjoyned and required, in and according to their several places and trusts, diligently to see to, and take order for the effectual performance hereof, as they tender their own and their countreys ease and deliverance from the Burthen and Grievances of Free-quarter, and as they will answer the neglect or failer at their perils. And whereas it often doth, and possibly may happen, notwithstanding the most due and careful taxing or levying of the assessments, that the moneys assigned upon the assessments, for pay to the several Forces, may not always be had so soon, as to come to their hands timely and beforehand, so as the Soldiery not having Money ready in hand, cannot in such case maintain and provide for themselves, as is intended, but may be necessitated (if they be not otherwise supplyed with ready money) to take Quarter and Billet upon Credit, till their pay come: And whereas in all such cases, where the Soldiery wanting present pay, are assigned to have Billet and Quarter found them by the several Inhabitants, it is too frequently or constantly practised, that such Inhabitants either by want of accommodations of their own for the Soldiers quartering, or by the Soldiers troublesomness or difficulty to be kept quiet, and satisfied with such Quarter as they can afford, are extremely exacted upon and enforced to give excessive allowances in Money, either to Inns or Ale-house keepers, where they can hire quarter for the Soldier, or else to the Soldier himself, to hire his Quarter where he can; insomuch as many are inforced to allow in such cases Sixteen pence per diem or more for a Foot Soldier, and Three shillings per diem or more for a Horse and Man, to avoid the Quartering of them; and yet when the Soldiers pay comes (if they pay anything at all towards satisfaction of Quarters) such Inhabitants usually receive back no more than according to the Rates heretofore allowed for discharging of Quarters, which come far short of what it usually costs the said Inhabitants: Now to prevent more surely the Peoples future Trouble, Damage, or Oppression in such kinde, It is Enacted by the authority aforesaid, That in case by any neglect, delay, default or accident it happen, that such Forces have not their pay timely and beforehand to maintain themselves withal, so as there be a necessity of assigning the Soldiers upon the several Inhabitants of the Towns or places where they lie, to have Quarter and Billet, or Money in lieu thereof, upon credit, until their pay do come, The Commanders of such Forces shall not in such case suffer their Soldiers or Officers to exact or take for Quarter or Billet, any more than the proportion of their days pay, and appointed allowance for additional pay, and Billet money respectively, for each nights and days quarter, but that the Inhabitants lending and laying down in moneys, according to the number of Soldiers and Officers within the Quarters, for each Soldier and Non-Commissioned Officer, and Officers man, the full proportion of their daily pay, according to the Establishment for England, and of their additional pay and Billet money, allowed by the Orders and Resolutions of Parliament for that purpose herewith published; and for each Commission-Officer under the degree of a Captain, one half of their daily pay; and for Captains and others above that degree, one third part of their daily pay, according to the said Establishment respectively, the Officers and Soldiers shall therewith maintain and provide themselves both for Victuals, and all provisions for horse and man, and also Billet, at such Rates as they can agree upon with the Inhabitants (with respect to the Rules contained in the said Orders and Resolutions) as if the said Forces had received their pay beforehand from the State, according to their Assignments; and the said Inhabitants lending and laying down the said moneys, according to the proportions aforesaid, whilest the said Forces (continuing amongst them) do want their pay assigned from the State, shall both be freed from any further charge or trouble for the Quarter or Billet of the said Forces according to the said Orders and Resolutions; and shall have the full sum of the moneys so lent and laid down by them, repaid unto them without any abatement or defalkation whatsoever. And for the more sure and orderly performance hereof, It is further Enacted, That in case of such delay, or want of timely pay to any the said Forces, according to their assignments, the Inhabitants and Landholders within such Cities, Towns and Parishes, where such Forces are by Order from the General, or such as have authority under him for that purpose, assigned to Quarter, shall according to the number of Officers and Soldiers actually present within the Quarters, lend and advance the moneys so wanting, according to the proportions aforesaid, for so long time as the said Forces (by like Order continuing there) shall want their pay assigned from the State as aforesaid; which money the Constables or Chief Civil Magistrates of such Towns and places respectively, are and shall be hereby authorized in such case to Rate, Collect, and Levy within the said places, in such equal way and proportions as the Forces otherwise would fall to be Billetted. And if any person refuse to lend his share, he shall lose the benefit provided by this Act for those that do lend the same; and the Constable or Chief Magistrate, with two of the Inhabitants that agree to lend as aforesaid, shall have power to assign so many soldiers as they think fit, to be Billetted upon the Refusers; and the money so lent and advanced, shall be paid into the hands of the respective Field-Officers of the Regiment, or chief Officers of the Troops or Companies quartering there, to be by them issued out to the Officers and Soldiers under them, for their pay and Billet money, which Chief Officers shall thereupon give to the Inhabitants their Receipt or Receipts under their hands, for all the moneys

And the said Commanders and Officers to whom any Moneys shall be so lent (in case their assigned pay come not in timely enough) so as they cannot repay the said moneys, before they be by order removed to other Quarters, shall within ten days after such remove, send Notice to the Committee for the Army, or Treasurers at War, what moneys have been so lent unto them, out of what Towns or places, and in what Counties they are so left unpaid, under the like pain as aforesaid. And upon these considerations, it is further Enacted, That from and after the ninth day of June, 1649, and from such time before the said ninth of June, as the said Forces, or any of them respectively, shall be supplied with their Pay and Billet money as aforesaid, the several and respective Counties, places and persons within this Commonwealth duly paying in their assessments, for the Pay and Billet of the Soldiery, as by this Act, or any other Act of Parliament for that purpose is or shall be required, they shall be wholly discharged and freed from all Free-quarter, Billet, or other Charge or burthern of or for the Soldiery; and all Officers and Soldiers whatsoever, having their pay and Billet money allowed as aforesaid, shall herewith maintain and provide for themselves both for Victual, and other provisions for Horse and Man, and also for Lodging, and all things else belonging to Quarter or Billet, at such Rates as they can agree for with the Inhabitants where they are or shall come to quarter; And no Officer or Soldier shall under pretence of taking Quarter or Billet, enter into the House of any person or persons duly paying in their Assessments as aforesaid, without his or their consent (except Inns, Taverns, Victualling Houses, and Alehouses) nor shall exact or take any Money, Victual, or Soldiers arrears considered.

The Accompts of Officers and Soldiers forthwith to be stated.

By whom the Accompts shall be taken.

the Staff-Officers of such of the said Regiments as are designed, and do engage to go for Ireland, the respective Field-Officers, or any two of them, shall take, examine, and state their Accompts, and certifie their said Arrears; and the Colonels shall do the like for the Field-Officers under them of their respective Regiments: And for such Officers, and others of the Train of Artillery as go for Ireland, the Lieutenant General, and Comptroller of the Train, shall examine and state their said accompts, and certifie their said arrears; and for such of the General Officers and Staff-Officers of the Army as go for Ireland, the Lord General, or such other persons as he shall appoint and intrust for that purpose, shall examine and state their said accompts, and the Lord General shall certifie their said arrears; But for such of the said Forces as go not for Ireland, the said accompts of all the Captains, or present chief Officers of the several Troops and Companies, and of the Field and Staff-Officers of the several Regiments, as also of the Train-Officers, and the General Officers, and Staff-Officers of the Army, and also the accompts of the Colonels of those Regiments that go for Ireland, shall be taken, examined and stated, and Debenters shall be given them for their said arrears by the Committee for the Army, or by such other persons as are or shall be by them, or otherwise by authority of Parliament appointed thereunto.

Certificate from a Superior Officer.

And for the more certain and effectual performance of this work, Be it further Enacted by the authority aforesaid, That every person claiming any such arrears as aforesaid, and desiring to have his accompts stated, and certified for the same, shall produce for every such arrear so claimed respectively, a Certificate under the Hand and Seal of his Captain or Lieutenant, or some other Commission-Officer superior to himself, or (in case of Service in particular Counties) then under the hands of two or more of that Committee, under whom he pretends such arrear became due respectively, expressing in what Troop or Company, and of what Regiment, or in what Garison or County, and for what space of time, and in what year or years of our Lord such his Service was, and to the best of their knowledge what pay be received for the same, or what remained due to him in arrear at his discharge; and also shall make Oath, that he hath not used, nor is privy to any fraud, deceit, or indirect dealing, in or for the framing or procuring of such Certificate, and that to the best of his knowledge such Certificate is true and just; and that he hath not otherwise had his Accompts stated, or any other Debenter given before for the same Arrear so claimed, other then what he shall then produce, acknowledge and deliver in to the said Officers; And he shall also upon the same Oath, discover whether he or any other for him to his knowledge, hath at any time received any moneys, or any thing else since his discharge from that service, toward satisfaction of the Arrears claimed thereupon, and how much hath been so received; and in the same Oath he shall also discover, whether he hath at any time received any other money or goods, for or under pretence of the publique service, for which to his best knowledge or remembrance he ought to be, and yet remaineth accomptable to the State, and for such money or goods (if he hath not already accompted) he shall then discharge himself by a true accompt; to the truth of which accompt, he shall make oath in such form as hereafter followeth; viz.

Oath.

I A. B. do swear, That the Accompt by me given in at this time is true and just, to the best of my knowledge and remembrance, and that therein I have not wittingly concealed any money or goods, which to my best remembrance I have received or taken for the use of the Parliament or Commonwealth, for which I am justly accomptable to the State; neither have I to my best remembrance wilfully imbezelled, or to my private use or benefit converted any such money or goods received by me for the use of the publique, and for which I stand accomptable as aforesaid, other then such, or to such value as I have charged my self within my said Accompt. So help me God.

An Act for the promoting and propagating the Gospel of Jesus Christ in New England.

[27 July, 1649.]

Whereas the Commons of England assembled in Parliament have received certain intelligence, by the testimonial of divers faithful and godly Ministers, and others in New-England, that divers the Heathen Natives of that Countrey, through the blessing of God upon the pious care and pains of some godly English of this Nation, who preach the Gospel to them in their own Indian Language, who not onely of Barbarous are become Civil, but many of them forsaking their accustomed Charms and Sorceries, and other Satanical Delusions, do now call upon the Name of the Lord, and give great testimony of the power of God, drawing them from death and darkness, into the life and light of the glorious Gospel of Jesus Christ, which appeareth by their diligent attending on the Word so preached unto them, with tears lamenting their mis-spent lives, teaching their Children what they are instructed in themselves, being careful to place their said Children in godly English Families, and to put them to English Schools, betaking themselves to one wife, putting away the rest, and by their constant prayers to Almighty God morning and evening in their Families, expressed (in all appearance) with much Devotion and Zeal of heart: All which considered, we cannot but in behalf of the Nation, represent, rejoyce and give glory to God, for the beginning of so glorious a propagation of the Gospel of Jesus Christ amongst those poor heathen, which cannot be prosecuted with that expedition and further success as is desired, unless fit instruments be encouraged

How the Accompts of Officers and Artificers of the Train, lately entertained for the Service of Ireland, shall be stated.

[17 August, 1649.]

Commissioners to state accompts of Officers of the Train.

Act 24 Dec., 1647.

28 May 1649.

Whereas there are divers Officers lately entertained for the service of Ireland, who have done faithful service in the English Armies, and by reason of their sudden march, could not attend the stating of their Accompts for other services, besides the New Model of the Army under the Lord Fairfax: To the end all due encouragement may be given to those who have done such faithful service in the English Armies, and now are engaged in the service of Ireland, Be it Enacted by this present Parliament, and it is hereby Enacted by the authority of the same, That Thomas Herbert and Vincent Potter Esquires, Commissioners of Parliament in the Army, shall examine and state the Accompts of such general Officers, Staff-Officers, and those Officers and Artificers belonging to the Train, who have not their Accompts already stated for other Services in the English Army, besides the New Model, according to the several allowances by the Establishments in the time of their said Services, deducting for Free-quarter, according to the Act of the Four and twentieth of December, One thousand six hundred forty seven; who observing the instructions prescribed by the Act of the Eight and twentieth of May last, for the true and perfect ascertaining of the said Arrears (deductions being made) shall certifie the same under their Hands and Seals unto the Committee sitting at Worcester-house (distinguishing betwixt the present pay, and the pay respited upon the publique Faith) Which Committee upon receipt of the same, looking thereinto that deductions be duly made, and that there be no mistake in casting up of the same, are hereby authorized and required to give forth Debentures for what so appeareth due, distinguishing as aforesaid which shall be taken upon the Security given by Parliament, and so exprest, according to the form of Debentures now given by the said Committee for such services: And the said Thomas Herbert and Vincent Potter, shall also continue their Imployment as Commissioners in the Army for Ireland, therein observing the Instructions formerly given to them for the English Army under the Lord Fairfax, and shall further observe such other Instructions as the Commissioners shall from time to time receive from the Parliament, or from the Council of State, constituted by authority of Parliament.

An Act for admitting the Purchasers of Bishops Lands to pay their Whole Purchase-moneys by Weavers-Hall Bills.

[28 August, 1649.]

What money has been raised by sale of Bishops Lands to 25 July, 1649.

The Parliament of England now assembled, finding upon due examination, that from the beginning of the sitting of the Contractors for the sale of Bishops Lands, to the Five and twentieth of July, One thousand six hundred forty nine, exclusively there is paid and to be paid in ready money and Goldsmiths-hall Bills, upon the several Contracts for Bishops Lands made by them within the time aforesaid, the full sum of Four hundred twenty three thousand seven hundred sixty six pounds fourteen shillings and ten pence: And being fully satisfied, that the said sum, together with the additional Security of the Excise in course (as it now stands charged) is a visible and sufficient Security to the Lenders of the first Four hundred thousand pounds, for whatsoever sum or sums of money can remain due unto them or any of them, together with the growing Interest due for the same; And being deeply sensible, how slowly the Bishops Lands are now bought off, whereby a great Debt, with its growing Interest and great Charge is continued upon the Commonwealth in regard that the Purchasers of the said Lands are not admitted to pay their whole Purchase-moneys by Weavers-Hall Bills, as is now most just and reasonable: Therefore be it Enacted and Ordained, and it is hereby Enacted and Ordained by this present Parliament, That all persons who have made, or shall make from and after the Twenty fourth day of July, One thousand six hundred forty and nine inclusively, any Contract for Bishops Lands, shall be admitted to pay all or any part of their Purchase-Moneys, due or to be due upon such Contracts, either in ready Purchase moneys may be paid by Weavers-hall Bills.

Money, Goldsmiths-Hall Bills, or Weavers-Hall Bills, as well for the Four hundred thousand pounds charged by Ordinance of the Thirteenth of May, One thousand six hundred forty seven, as the Eighty four thousand pounds charged by Ordinance of the Third of June, One thousand six hundred forty seven, as the respective Purchasers shall think fit: And the Trustees, Contractors and Treasurers for Bishops Lands, and all other Officers and persons whatsoever concerned herein, are required to take notice hereof, and to act accordingly.

An Act touching the second Four hundred thousand pounds, charged on the Receipts of the Excise and Goldsmiths-hall.

[28 August, 1649.]

Ord. of 13 May, 1647, recited

Whereas the Lords and Commons assembled in Parliament intending by their Ordinance of the Thirteenth of May, One thousand six hundred forty seven, to raise the sum of two hundred thousand pounds for the Service of England and Ireland, by way of doubling, in such maner as in the said Ordinance is exprest; and did by the said Ordinance charge a second sum of Four hundred thousand pounds, to be paid out of the Grand Excize in course, and out of the moyety of all Compositions, made or to be made with Delinquents at Goldsmiths-Hall, and out of the remainder of the proceeds of the Bishops Lands, and out of the proceeds of the Estates, and sale of the Lands of Papists (which should first happen) together with all Interest growing due thereupon, after the rate of Eight pounds per centum, per annum, to be paid every six moneths out of the Receipt of the Excize, till Principal and interest be fully discharged; and did thereby also further Ordain, That every Lender upon the said Ordinance should have all benefits and advantages whatesoever, for and concerning any moneys due by the said Ordinance (in course after the former engagement satisfied and discharged) as fully and amply, to all intents and purposes, as they who formerly lent any Moneys upon a former Ordinance for sale of Bishops Lands, made November the Sixteenth, One thousand six hundred forty six, ought to have by vertue thereof. And whereas by the Sales and Contracts already made of and for the said Bishops Lands, the sum of One hundred and seventy thousand pounds, or thereabouts, is already paid and to be paid towards the discharge of the said second Four hundred thousand pounds charged upon the Receipts of the Excise and Goldsmiths-hall (together with the Interest thereupon due) which therefore ought not to stand charged on the Receipts of the Excise and Goldsmiths-hall for the Service of the Commonwealth: The Parliament taking the same into consideration, together with the pressing Necessities of the Forces now in actual service for the Relief of Ireland, Do Enact and Ordain; and be it Enacted and Ordained by the Authority of this present Parliament, That so much of the second Four hundred thousand pounds as is already satisfied, or shall be satisfied hereafter to the Lenders thereof, or to their Assigns, by the sale of the said Bishops Lands, shall nevertheless stand charged upon the said Receipts of Excize and Goldsmiths-hall for the service of the Commonwealth, to be paid by the Commissioners of Excize and Treasurers at Goldsmiths-hall in course, in such maner as it ought to have been paid to the said Lenders, had they not been satisfied by the sale of the said Lands.

Moneys satisfied out of proceeds of sale of bishops' lands to be charged on the excise.

And be it further Enacted and Ordained by the Authority aforesaid, That the said Commissioners and Treasurers respectively, do issue out the said sums hereby declared to stand charged as aforesaid for the service of the Commonwealth, according to such Orders and Directions as they shall from time to time receive from the Councel of State; and the receipt of the person or persons so authorized to receive the same, shall be a good discharge to the said Commissioners and Treasurers respectively.

[20 September, 1649.]

Whereas divers Scandalous, Seditious and Libellous Pamphlets, Papers and Books are daily contrived, printed, vended and dispersed, with officious care and industry by the Malignant party at home and abroad, for the better compassing of their wicked ends, the subversion of the Parliament and present Government, which they well know cannot with more ease be attempted, then by lies and false suggestions, cunningly insinuated and spread amongst the people, and by malicious misrepresentation of things acted and done, to take off and divide their affections from that just Authority which is set over them for their good and safety, and to bring a low and mean esteem upon the persons, and a suspition and hatred upon the courses and intentions of the faithful Members of the Peoples Representative in Parliament, and of other Ministers of State, serving the Commonwealth in their several Subordinations, especially such who are most constant and conscientious in discharge of their Trust, and are therefore become the utmost object of their wretched spleen and malice. And whereas a great occasion of these mischiefs and scandals, and dis-satisfaction of many, hath been as well the ignorance and assumed boldness of the weekly Pamphleteers, without leave or due information, taking upon them to publish, and at pleasure to censure the Proceedings of Parliament and Army, and other Affairs of State, as also the irregularity and licentiousness of Printing, the Art whereof in this Commonwealth, and in all Forein parts, hath been and ought to be restrained from too arbitrary and general an exercise: To prevent the many mischiefs inevitably following thereupon, the Parliament of England duly considering the premises, and willing to apply fit remedy herein, Do Enact and Ordain, and be it by the authority aforesaid Enacted and Ordained, That the Laws made formerly, and at this present Parliament, now in force for punishment of devisers and spreaders of false and seditious news, lyes and rumors, by writing, printing, speaking or otherwise, shall be put in due and diligent execution, according to the tenor of the same Acts.

And for the prevention of false, imperfect and impertinent Relations of Parliamentary Proceedings, and other such Occurrences and News, the truth whereof may be fit to be known and published, for the satisfaction of all the good people of this Commonwealth therein interessed, and of all the well-affected thereto, in the clear Information of the state of Affairs; Be it Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That no person whatsoever shall compose, write, print, publish, sell or utter, or cause to be made, written, printed or uttered, any Book or Pamphlet, Treatise, sheet or sheets of News whatsoever, unless Licensed (as is hereafter mentioned) upon the like Penalty as upon the Maker, Writer, Printer, Bookseller and Stationer respectively, of scandalous Books and Pamphlets, both for Fine and Imprisonment, is herein before limited and appointed.

An Act for an Assessment for six Moneths, from the Five and twentieth of December, 1649, for maintenance of the Forces raised by Authority of Parliament for the Service of England and Ireland, at the rate of Ninety thousand pounds per mensem for the first three Moneths, and at the rate of Three score thousand pounds for the last three Moneths.

[7 December, 1649.]

The Parliament of England now assembled, having been necessarily inforced to the expense of divers vast sums of money, in the preparing and speedy transporting their Army for Ireland, and for the furnishing of them with Shipping, Provisions for War, and other Accommodations requisite for so great an undertaking; By reason of which Expedition, and in regard the Monethly Assessments fall far short of discharging the ordinary Salary of the Garrisons, and their Armies, the other Treasuries of the Commonwealth have been extraordinarily exhausted: And for that also the Parliament are necessitated out of the Treasuries of this Commonwealth, still to furnish the Army in Ireland, (especially in their hardship of Winter-services) with timely pay and other necessaries that so (until they can be otherwise provided for) they may be from hence encouraged to carry on and perfect that work so eminently conducing to the relief of the distressed there, and the quiet and advantage of this Commonwealth; towards which (by the blessing of God upon their endeavors) they have already made a very happy progress, even far beyond what could be hoped for in so short a space; and so, as that unless the Parliament should wilfully contemn those great and unexpected mercies, in which the hand of God hath so visibly appeared, and become unfaithful to that Trust they through former difficulties have and always shall, through the assistance of God, endeavor faithfully to discharge: And unless also they should as much as in them lies, deliver up their Army and Friends in Ireland, to the merciless cruelty of the enraged Enemy there, and hereby hazard the utter ruine and destruction of this Commonwealth, they may not neglect the constant and timely recruiting, and compleat maintaining that Army with sufficient supplies of Men, Moneys, Arms, Ammunition, and like convenient Furnitures, which their necessities (as yet) will daily call for and require, as well to preserve their power in the Field, as also to secure and safe keep those many Garisons already in their possession, and such others as it shall please God to deliver into their hands, which may be thought fit to be continued and maintained there: And considering the sad and late experience this Commonwealth hath had of Civil Commotions, and that until Providence (by a perfect and through reducement of Ireland to the obedience of this Commonwealth) shall put an end to all controversies there, that good Peace and settlement which this Commonwealth hath for some moneths past enjoyed, may by the Enemies thereof be the better attempted to be disturbed, with hopes of more probable success then they can otherwise expect; The prevention whereof, and well performance of that trust and care that lies upon the Parliament, in reference to the Army in Ireland, will be the most certain and ready means to the abatement at least of the number of Forces (otherwise of necessity to be continued in this Commonwealth) and consequently of the present Pressures and Burthens thereof: And to the end also that the Forces in this Commonwealth may be still kept from Free-quarter and Billet, by the continuance of timely Pay, which (especially to those places where the Assessments have been readily paid) hath proved great ease and advantage, towards which the other Publique Receipts of the Commonwealth, beside the Assessments of the Army, being by the afore-mentioned Charge so as is aforesaid exhausted, and not yet wholly freed from those Engagements wherewith they were formerly clogged, cannot render such considerable supply to the present Disbursements as otherwise they might, and the Parliament have good grounds to hope they wil speedily afford; but that there is yet a necessity of continuing the Assessments for maintenance of their said Armies for six moneths longer; (viz.) At the rate of Ninety thousand pounds per mensem for the first three of the said Moneths, and at the Rate of Sixty thousand pounds per mensem for the other three moneths thereof: Be it therefore Enacted by this present Parliament, and it is hereby Enacted by the Authority thereof, That towards the maintenance of the Forces in England and Ireland, the sum of Ninety thousand pounds per mensem for the first three Moneths next ensuing, from the Five and twentieth of December, One thousand six hundred forty nine, to the Five and twentieth of March, next ensuing, shall be taxed, collected, levied and paid, in the several counties and places hereafter named respectively, by the several sums, and according to the several Rates and Proportions, and in such maner and form as by the Act of this present Parliament of the Seventh of April last, for the Assessing, Levying, Taxing and Paying of the last three Moneths Assessment therein provided for, was directed, and according to the sums hereafter expressed; (viz.)

This Act to be publicly proclaimed

An Act against several Atheistical, Blasphemous and Execrable Opinions, derogatory to the honor of God, and destructive to humane Society.

[9 August, 1650.]

The Parliament holding it to be their duty, by all good ways and means to propagate the Gospel in this Commonwealth, to advance Religion in all Sincerity, Godliness, and Honesty, Have made several Ordinances and Laws for the good and furtherance of Reformation, in Doctrine and Maners, and in order to the suppressing of Prophaneness, Wickedness, Superstition and Formality, that God may be truly glorified, and all might in well-doing be encouraged. But notwithstanding this their care, finding to their great grief and astonishment, that there are divers men and women who have lately discovered themselves to be most monstrous in their Opinions, and loose in all wicked and abominable Practices hereafter mentioned, not onely to the notorious corrupting and disordering, but even to the dissolution of all Humane Society, who rejecting the use of any Gospel Ordinances, do deny the necessity of Civil and Moral Righteousness among men; The Parliament therefore, according to their published Declaration of the Twenty seventh of September, One thousand six hundred forty nine, To be most ready to testifie their displeasure and abhorrency of such Offenders, by a strict and effectual proceeding against them, who should abuse and turn into Licentiousness, the liberty given in matters of Conscience, Do therefore Enact and Ordain, and be it Enacted and Ordained by the Authority of this present Parliament, That all and every person and persons (not distempered with sickness, or distracted in brain), who shall presume avowedly in words to profess, or shall by writing proceed to affirm and maintain him or her self, or any other meer Creature, to be very God, or to be Infinite or Almighty, or in Honor, Excellency, Majesty and Power to be equal, and the same with the true God, or that the true God, or the Eternal Majesty dwells in the Creature and no where else; or whosoever shall deny the Holiness and Righteousness of God, or shall presume as aforesaid to profess, That Unrighteousness in persons, or the acts of Uncleanness, Prophane Swearing, Drunkenness, and the like Filthiness and Brutishness, are not unholy and forbidden in the Word of God, or that these acts in any person, or the persons [so] committing them, are approved of by God, or that such acts, or such persons in those things are like unto God: Or whosoever shall presume as aforesaid to profess, That these acts of Denying and Blaspheming God, or the Holiness or Righteousness of God; or the acts of cursing God, or of Swearing prophanely or falsly by the Name of God, or the acts of Lying, Stealing, Cousening and Defrauding others; or the acts of Murther, Adultery, Incest, Fornication, Uncleanness, Sodomy, Drunkenness, filthy and lascivious Speaking, are not things in themselves shameful, wicked, sinful, impious, abominable and detestable in any person, or to be practised or done by any person or persons: Or shall as aforesaid profess, That the acts of Adultery, Drunkenness, Swearing and the like open wickedness, are in their own nature as Holy and Righteous as the Duties of Prayer, Preaching or giving of Thanks to God: Or whosoever shall avowedly as aforesaid profess, That whatsoever is acted by them (whether Whoredom, Adultery, Drunkenness or the like open Wickedness) may be committed without sin; or that such acts are acted by the true God, or by the Majesty of God, or the Eternity that is in them; That Heaven and all happiness consists in the acting of those things which are Sin and Wickedness; or that such men or women are most perfect, or like to God or Eternity, which do commit the

[28 August 1650.]

Do finde therein a Design of Charls Stuart, the Declared King of Scotland, by the instigation of the State and Kirk of that Kingdom, under a Pretence of Humiliation for his own and his Fathers Opposition to the Work of Reformation, and Solemn League and Covenant, to seduce the People of this Nation from their due Obedience to this present Government, and to invite them, by promoting his pretended Interest here, notonely to embroil this Nation in new Troubles, by a bloody and intestine War, thereby, as much as in them lies, taking away all Hopes of a setled Peace in this Commonwealth, but also to make themselves instrumental to inthral themselves again in Tyranny and Slavery, from which they have been, through the Blessing and Glorious Appearances of God, so happily Redeemed And, however, the Parliament have reason to believe, That no pious or judicious person can possibly be deluded under such gross Deceits, to contribute such an Assistance as in that Declaration is called for, and which would most undoubtedly end (if the Lord prevent not) in the Destruction of the truly Godly in both Nations, and the Betraying of that Cause that hath been Engaged in by them: Nevertheless, they have Resolved, for better Information and Satisfaction of the People of this Land, more largely and particularly to Unmask, and Discover the Hypocrite and Wicked Design lodged under the specious Pretences in that Declaration: And in the meantime, Do Enact and Declare, That all and every person and persons whatsoever, who shall abet or countenance the said Declaration, by Printing or publishing the same, or by promoting or prosecuting the Design or Ends therein contained, is and are hereby Adjudged and Declared to be guilty of High Treason, and shall be proceeded against as Traytors.

An Act for making Ships and Merchandizes taken or to be taken from the King of Portugal or any of His subjects, To be Prize.

[8 November, 1650.]

Whereas the Parliament of England did lately send forth a Fleet to Lisbone, in pursuit of Prince Rupert and his Adherents, for the Reducing of the Revolted Ships (part of the Navy of this Commonwealth) which the Adherents of the said Rupert, Treacherously ran away with in the year One thousand six hundred forty eight, and after many Robberies and Piracies by them committed at Sea, put into the Harbor of Lisbone, belonging to the King of Portugal, for safeguard and protection.

And whereas upon the arrival of the Parliaments Fleet before Lisbone, Application was made by the General thereof to the King of Portugal, and liberty desired, That they might assail Prince Rupert, and the said Revolted Ships, in the said Port; who denyed to condescend thereunto, and professed to maintain that Port and Territory as Neutral, and a place of Safety to both parties: Notwithstanding which, several Barbarous Murthers have been committed by the said Rupert and his Associates, upon divers of the Parliaments Fleet whom they met on the Shore in the said Harbor, and Imprisonment enjoyned to others there, for their good affection to this State; besides divers Spoils and Horrible Offences perpetrated by the said Revolted Fleet: For all which no Justice hath been executed upon any the Offenders, though often Represented and Demanded of the said King and his Ministers, in the Name of this Commonwealth, according to the Law of Nations, to the great Loss and Damage of this Commonwealth: The Parliament thereupon finding, That (by the Law of Nations) there did justly lie Reprisals against the King of Portugal and his Subjects, and their Ships and Goods, for Recovery of the Damages sustained by this State, did impower the Councel of State to Grant Letters of Reprisals against the Portugals, and their Ships and Goods, on behalf of this Commonwealth; By vertue whereof divers Ships have since been taken, having Goods therein belonging to Portugals; Be it therefore Enacted and Ordained by this present Parliament, and by the Authority of the same, That all Ships, Vessels, Tackle, Ordnance, Ammunition, Wares, Merchandizes or Goods whatsoever, belonging to the King of Portugal or any of his Subjects, which are or shall be seized, surprised or taken by all or any part of the Fleet or Ships in the Service or Pay of this Commonwealth or by vertue of Reprisals granted against the said Portugals, shall be proceeded against according to the course of Justice, in the Admiralty Court, and brought to Tryal and Judgement there: And the Judges of that Court shall be, and are hereby enabled to take full Cognizance thereof, and of all the Dependencies thereupon, and of all the Cocquets, Books, Bills of Lading, Commissions, Letters and Writings found aboard such Ships and Vessels; and upon due Examination and Proof to be made or exhibited before them (according to the course used touching Prizes) That the said Ships and Goods are of the Portugals, or do belong to, or Consigned for the Accompt of the said King of Portugal or his Subjects, or any of them, and upon observation of what is Required by the Law of Nations therein, to proceed to Sentence and Adjudication, and Condemn the same to be good and lawful Prize, and shall be disposed of as in and by this Act is hereafter limited and appointed.

All ships and goods taken from Portuguese to be prize.

And whereas many Merchants and other persons have had their Goods and Effects seized upon, and divers have been Imprisoned by the King of Portugal and his Ministers, for their Duty and Faithfulness to this Commonwealth, The Parliament taking the same likewise into Consideration, do think fit, That some Reparation be made unto them for such their Losses and Sufferings, and do further Enact and Ordain, That the neat Proceed of all the Portugal Ships and Goods, that are or shall be seized and adjudged in Pursuance of the said Reprisals, and of this Act (after all incident Charges of Condemnation, Taking up, and Sale of the said Prizes, together with the Tenths, and Salary of the Collectors for Prize Goods, which from henceforth is to be only Threepence in the pound, are deducted) shall be divided into Six equal parts, Three six parts thereof to the Use of the Commonwealth, towards satisfaction of their great Charges and Damages sustained as aforesaid, to be employed for the Use of the Navy; One other sixth to the Use of the Marriners, who have been or shall be imployed in the taking Disposal of proceeds of prize.

An Act for raising of One hundred and twenty thousand pounds per Mensem for Four Moneths, To commence the Five and twentieth of December 1650. for Maintenance of the Forces in England, Ireland and Scotland, Raised by Authority of Parliament for the Service of this Commonwealth.

[26 November, 1650.]

Although it hath been the earnest care and labor of this present Parliament, in the carrying on of this great Cause (wherein true Religion and the Liberty of this Nation is so highly concerned) to use all the means that hath been in their power to ease the People of the heavy Burthens and Pressures, which by constant Assessments and Levies of Moneys necessary for publique safety, and preventing of Free-quarter, have been continued; And as a Testimony hereof, the Parliament did some Moneths since abate of the Monethly Assessments a considerable proportion, and that before the publique Occasions could well admit thereof; hoping still to have gone on in the diminishing of the same, by lessening the number of their Forces by Sea and Land; and also by all other just and fitting ways of raising Money, by sale of the Land and

Revenue of the late King, and the late Deans and Chapters, and of Delinquents: But having found, That whilest these were their thoughts and endeavors for the good and ease of this Commonwealth, that their implacable Enemies were Consulting, Treating and Complotting at Breda, how to raise more dangerous troubles then ever, within the Bowels of this Nation (that hath already so much suffered by its late Wars) and this by the means also of Forreign Nations Correspondency with disaffected Parties within this Commonwealth, and particularly by the means of a second intended Invasion from the Scots, to be ushered in by that unparalleld hypocritical Declaration emitted by them and their King, with which they hoped to have marched up to London, and taken up their Winter-quarters in the fattest and richest parts of England, if God had not disappointed this wicked and horrid Design of theirs, and miraculously shewed himself in the Deliverance of England, and owning the Righteous Cause which they are engaged in: Upon these grounds, and from the fore-sight of these desperate Evils, the Parliament were necessitated to encrease their Forces, as well by Sea as by Land, so as to be able to have a considerable Fleet, to endeavor the Reducing of the Revolted Ships, and an Army to enter Scotland, for the keeping of the War from our own Doors, and yet not be found naked or unprovided at home, either of a sufficient Guard of Ships in the Channel, and to attend the motions of the Army in Scotland, or of Forces in the Southern and Western parts of this Nation, to resist all Incursions from without, or Insurrections within. And since it hath pleased God so eminently to bless these Counsels and Endeavors of the Parliament, for the safety and future Settlement of this Commonwealth, it would be an unanswerable deficiency to the Trust that is reposed in them, if they should not with all vigor prosecute, so far as in them lies, the late happy Victory vouchsafed unto them, by the Mercy of God, against the Scottish Nation, and to follow the Outgoings of the Lord, in securing the Liberties, and Establishing the Peace of this Nation, after all its sad Troubles and Distractions; which the Parliament, after most serious consideration, finding that they are not able to do, without providing a settled course of payment for all their Forces, as well by Sea as by Land, the charge whereof at present is almost double to what it was the beginning of the last year, Do therefore Enact and Ordain, and it is Enacted and Ordained by this present Parliament, and by the Authority of the same, That towards the Maintenance of the Armies in England, Ireland and Scotland, raised by Authority of Parliament for the service of this Commonwealth, the sum of One hundred and twenty thousand pounds per mensem for Four Moneths; viz: From the Five and twentieth day of December, One thousand six hundred and fifty, to the Five and twentieth day of April next ensuing, shall be Assessed, Taxed, Collected, Levied and Paid in the several Counties, Cities, Towns

An Act For making Navigable the River of Wye.

[26 June 1651]

Whereas the making and effecting of a Passage for Barges, Boats and Liters by the River of Wye, running through the Town of Guildford in the County of Surrey into the River of Thames, at a Town called Weybridge, will be very advantagious for the Commonwealth, Be it therefore Ordained and Enacted by the Authority of this present Parliament, That it shall and may be lawful to and for the Major for the time being, and approved Men of Guildford; or James Pitson, John Howe of Guildford Esqs; John Waltham of Shallowford, and Richard Scotcher of Guildford aforesaid Gent. or any other person or persons at their own Costs and Charges, to cleanse, scour, and make Navigable the said River of Wye, and to cut and dig a new River or Trench for the better effecting of the said Navigation, in the most convenient places where they shall think fit; and to take away all Trees and Roots, and remove all Impediments that may any way hinder the said intended Passage or Navigation; And to erect and make Locks, Weres, Turn pikes, Pens for water, and Wharfs to lay on Timber, and all other Materials that shall be brought to or from Guildford, where they shall think fit; and to amend and alter such Bridges as may hinder the said Passage, leaving them as fit for Carts, Waggons, Horse and Foot, as they were before; and to do all other things necessary for the better conveniency of the said River and Passage, and for the repairing and amending of the same from time to time, and at all times hereafter. And for that the making of the said Rivers and Passages Navigable, may not be prejudicial to the Inheritance and profit of divers persons that have Land adjoyning to the said Rivers and Passages and through which the said Rivers and Passages shall be cut;

Be it therefore further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the Lords Commissioners for the Great Seal of England, may appoint and authorize by Commission under the Great Seal of England, Twelve Commissioners within the County of Surrey, whereof three to be named by the said Lords Commissioners, and three to be named by the said Major for the time being, and the approved men of the Town of Guildford, or the major part of them, and six by the Free-holders of the County, at some County there to be holden, whereof notice shall be given at the County Court before, to the end as many Free-holders may appear at the Election as will; which said Commissioners, or the greater part of them, informing themselves by Examination of Witnesses upon Oath (which hereby they shall have power to Administer) shall have full power and authority to determine, appoint and set down, what and how much satisfaction every person or persons shall have for or in respect of any loss or damage by cutting of their Land, by making the said Passage or Navigation at such Rates and Prices as they shall think fit, in case the said Major and approved men, or the said James Pitson, John Howe, John Waltham and Richard Scotcher, or other persons authorized by them shall not agree beforehand with the parties so to be damnified as aforesaid. And the said Commissioners or major part of them shall have full power and authority by this Act, to determine all Controversies which shall or may happen touching the meaning and construction of this Act; And the Rates, Prices and Determinations so set down by them, shall binde all parties whatsoever; And the agreement or Order and determination so to be made, shall be set down under the Hands and Seals of the said Commissioners or the major part of them, And be it further Enacted, That the said Major for the time being, and approved Men of Guildford aforesaid, or major part of them, or the said James Pitson, John Howe, John Waltham and Richard Scotcher, or such other person or persons as shall be authorized by them to effect the said work, shall not take above the price of Four Shillings the Load, accompting Twenty hundred weight to the Load for any or every Load (and a Chaldron of Coals to be accompted for a Load of Coals) that shall be carryed from the said Town of Guildford unto Weybridge-Haw, and afterwards such Rate or Price as other Boats and Barges have for carrying from thence unto the City of London: And that it shall and may be lawful for the said Major for the time being, and approved men of Guildford, or the major part of them, or the aforesaid James Pitson, John Howe, John Waltham and Richard Scotcher, or for any other person or persons to be authorized by them, who shall undertake to make the said River or Passage at their own Costs and Charges, to receive and take the several Rates and Prices before mentioned or expressed, for the carriage of every Tun to and from the several places before named, and shall not take above Twelve pence of every Passenger that shall be carryed between Guildford and the said City of London, and after the same Rates proportionable for any part of the said Passage, and shall not take above or more then the Rates aforesaid: And shall peaceably and quietly take and enjoy the same Rates and Taxes to them, their Heirs or Successors and Assigns for ever, in recompence of their great charge in making and maintaining the said Rivers or Passages Navigable, by force and vertue of this present Act; and all other person and persons whatsoever, who shall disburse any money towards the making of the said Rivers and Passages, shall also enjoy the profit thereof, according to their several Agreements made or to be made with those that undertake this work, in as ample maner as those that undertake the same may or ought to do by force and vertue of this Act, and according to the true intent and meaning thereof. And whereas the said Major and Corporation of Guildford are the Procurers of the said Passage, Be it further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the Commissioners aforesaid, or the more part of them, by vertue of this Act, shall have power and authority from time to time to ordain and make Orders and Constitutions for the good and orderly way of all Boats and Boatmen belonging to the said Passage; and to set, lay and execute such reasonable Penalties upon the breakers thereof, as they shall think fit. And be it further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That when any of the said Commissioners shall happen to dye, that then and so often it shall and may be lawful for the Lords Commissioners of the Great Seal for the time being, from time to time to supply one Commissioner, or so many Commissioners as shall make and fill up the number of twelve Commissioners, to be chosen as aforesaid respectively by the several parties, if any by them so Elected as aforesaid shall happen to dye, upon the Request of the surviving Commissioners. And because the said Passage from Weybridge to Guildford is directly against the Stream, so as the Boats and Barges must of necessity in some places and at some times be towed or drawn up by strength of Men, Lines and Ropes, Winches, Engines, and other means convenient for that purpose; Be it therefore further Enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That it shall and may be lawful to and for such Watermen, Boatmen and Bargemen, and other helpers of them, to have and use a certain Path of one foot and an half in breadth on either side of the said River of Wye, for drawing up by strength of men, lines, ropes, winches, and other Engines, their Boats, Barges and other Vessels, passing and repassing the said River of Wye, without y^e^ hindrance, trouble or impeachment of any person or persons whatsoever, Provided always, That it shall not be lawful to the said Major and Corporation of Guildford, or to the said James Pitson, John How, John Waltham and Richard Scotcher, or their Assigns, to dig, trench or cut, or make any Wharf in or upon the Lands of any person or persons respectively, until a full agreement with the respective Lords, Owners or Occupiers of the said Lands he had and made by the Commissioners appointed as aforesaid, according to the true meaning of this present Act, Any thing herein contained to the contrary notwithstanding.
